

St Margaret's Institute (SMI) Equality and Diversity Policy
November 2018

SMI is committed to encouraging equality and diversity when letting out its premises, and is committed not to unlawfully discriminate against its customers or users.

To that end the SMI will, in the provision of services and facilities on its site, strive to abide by the principles of the Equality Act 2010 so as not to unlawfully discriminate on grounds of age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race (including colour, nationality, and ethnic or national origin), religion or belief, sex (gender) and sexual orientation. In short the SMI will work hard to ensure that its services are accessible to a diverse community.
